[Initiatives to Realize Management that Consider Capital Costs and Share Price]

Contents of description	Disclosure of initiatives (update)
Disclosure in English or not	Yes
Date of update updated	June 24, 2026

Description of applicable item updated

The ALSOK Group believes that expanding our Security Services and other operations, as well as improving the rationality and efficiency of all of our business activities, are essential tasks for increasing profitability. Accordingly, we focus on the ratio of ordinary income to consolidated sales as an important management indicator. We will also emphasize the ratio of net income to equity, otherwise known as return on equity (ROE), as an indicator of how optimally shareholders' equity is being utilized. Accordingly, we have set medium-term targets of achieving approximately 10% for both indices. Furthermore, with respect to the current status of the Group's capital cost, the Board of Directors has discussed the matter and shared the understanding.

When determining business investments, etc., the Company deliberates on whether returns that exceed the capital costs can be expected, as well as verifies the effectiveness of cross-shareholdings against capital costs. Regarding cash and deposits, since the demand for funds related to expenditures tends to remain stable throughout the year, we believe it is appropriate to maintain an amount equivalent to about one to two months of monthly sales.

In addition, in 2026, the Company announced a decision to acquire treasury stocks as part of its flexible capital strategies in response to changes in the business environment and as a means of returning value to shareholders. We will continue to consider measures to improve the capital efficiency while monitoring the reduction of cross-shareholdings of major companies.

In realizing management that consider capital costs and share price, we will continue to offer thorough explanation to the shareholders, investors, and other stakeholders to gain their understanding.

Reference

The Company has set the following financial goals for Fiscal Year 2029 in the Medium-Term Management Plan.

- Consolidated net sales: 680–750 billion yen
- Consolidated ordinary income: 68–75 billion yen
- Consolidated ordinary income ratio: Approx. 10%

5. Other Special Circumstances which may have Material Impact on Corporate Governance updated

In order to respond to the growing needs for safety and security in a society with diversified risks, the Company is promoting the expansion of its security services business model, and is actively working on businesses that have the potential for synergies with our security services, such as Facility Management (FM) and Long-Term Care Services. As part of these efforts, the Company has formed a capital and business alliance with a fire protection manufacturer in Facility Management (FM) and a welfare-related company in Long-Term Care Services, making them affiliates. Together with these affiliates, the Company aims to expand synergies by strengthening business promotion through joint development and collaboration of new products and services to meet diverse needs. We believe that building such partnerships with listed companies that have creditworthiness and excellent human resources is an effective way to increase the corporate value of each company.

While we will continue to aim for growth throughout the Group, from the perspective of protecting minority shareholders and ensuring independence, the involvement in the management of each company is kept to a minimum, including the dispatch of directors.

(1) HOCHIKI CORPORATION

HOCHIKI CORPORATION is a listed affiliate of the Company. Since 2004, we have maintained a comprehensive business alliance, and in 2012 the company became an equity-method affiliate. The company possesses advanced technological capabilities and a solid track record in the field of disaster prevention systems including fire alarm equipment, and also sells security-related devices. Between the company and our Group, we have established a system of mutual support by leveraging the management resources of both parties. We enhance market competitiveness by leveraging collaboration between the two companies, such as providing one-stop services spanning from the installation of the company's equipment, monitoring by our company, and repairs or renewals by the company in the event of failures or issues, to offer advanced safety and security services. In addition to disaster prevention business, we are also collaborating in Security Services to expand business opportunities and enhance corporate value for both companies.

(2) Nippon Dry-Chemical Co., Ltd.

Nippon Dry-Chemical Co., Ltd. is a listed affiliate of the Company. The Company formed a capital and business alliance with Nippon Dry-Chemical Co., Ltd. in 2016 and made it an equity-method affiliate. As a comprehensive disaster prevention company, Nippon Dry-Chemical Co., Ltd. is engaged in a wide range of businesses in the fields of fire extinguishing and disaster prevention, and is developing businesses with a particular focus on fire extinguishing. Through this business alliance, we believe that each company will be able to bring together management resources in respective areas of expertise and develop new products and services related to crime and disaster prevention to provide high value-added services. However, to respond accurately to recent changes in the business environment of the disaster prevention industry and to capture demand, we have determined it is necessary not only to further promote collaboration but also to strengthen our capital relationship with the company. Accordingly, to build a strategic partnership with the company, we are conducting a tender offer through TCG2511 Co., Ltd., in which we have a 50% investment (from May 14 to June 29, 2026). Depending on the results of this tender offer, its shares may be delisted in accordance with the delisting criteria of the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

(3) Nippon Care Supply Co., Ltd.

Nippon Care Supply Co., Ltd. is a listed affiliate of the Company. The Company formed a capital and business alliance with Nippon Care Supply Co., Ltd. together with Mitsubishi Corporation (three-way alliance) in 2020 and made it an equity-method affiliate. Since the number of Long-Term Care Services is increasing year by year as the population ages, the caregiver shortage issue is becoming more serious. By bringing together the knowledge, know-how and networks of each of the three companies in this alliance, we will provide systems that enable the elderly to live their daily lives safely, securely, and conveniently, and believe that we can contribute to solving social issues.

Incentive Policies for Directors	Introduction of Productivity-linked remuneration system

Supplementary Explanation updated

The remuneration of directors consists with the flat amount determined by the title, outside directors, other directors and with the productivity-linked remuneration calculated by the performance feedback by certain standard. Among these, the productivity-linked remuneration accounts for 45% of total compensation, of which 30% is allocated to short-term incentives and 15% to medium- to long-term incentives.

The fixed compensation notified in advance paid every June fall into productivity-linked remuneration and as for the calculation, the company performance rate is determined by the bonus amount before deduction of consolidated operating income with investment gain on equity method added as a standard index. Furthermore, the individual performance payment rate will be determined based on the achievements of the challenges and achievement targets for the relevant fiscal year set for the individual. After, the amount of payment is decided by multiplying each payment rate by the standard amount.

From fiscal year 2026, in light of the fact that management is required to further promote the Company's sustainable growth and enhancement of corporate value, and to appropriately fulfill their roles and responsibilities, including improving profitability and capital efficiency, the Company has introduced remuneration in the form of acquisition of the Company's own shares. This is intended to foster greater value-sharing with stakeholders than ever before and to provide incentives for increasing corporate value. This compensation is paid as a fixed portion based on the officer's rank, with the purpose of contributing to the Officers' Shareholding Association for the acquisition of company shares. Through this compensation, the Company will further increase management's motivation to contribute to the enhancement of corporate value and promote value sharing with shareholders.

Policy on Determining Remuneration Amounts and Calculation Methods updated

Established

Disclosure of Policy on Determining Remuneration Amounts and Calculation Methods

- Contents of the policy regarding the amount of remuneration for officers
 With the resolution of General Meeting of Shareholders, the Company decides the maximum remuneration paid to directors should be 600 million yen in total (the number of directors involved in the resolution is 12; June 25, 2024) and as for Audit & Supervisory Board members shall be 120 million yen in total (the number of Audit & Supervisory Board members involved in the resolution is 4; June 30, 1998).
 The remuneration paid to directors, based on the following policies decided by the resolution of the Board of Directors, consists with the flat amount determined by the appointment and outside director, other directors besides, and with the productivity-linked remuneration calculated by the performance feedback of each directors by certain standard.
 The basic policy and method of determining the remuneration of the Company's directors (excluding outside directors) are determined by the Board of Directors after deliberation and reporting by the Nomination and Remuneration Committee, an optional committee with independent outside directors comprising the majority of members.
 The remuneration paid to Audit & Supervisory Board members is flat amount and the specific amount is determined following the standard decided at Board of Directors.

2. Policy on determining the payment ratio of productivity-linked remuneration and non-productivity-linked remuneration
 Regarding the remuneration of the directors (excluding outside directors), the fixed compensation notified in advance (so-called bonus) paid in June every year corresponds to the productivity-linked remuneration.
 If the company performance payment rate and the individual performance payment rate are both 100%, the payment ratio will be 43.5% of the total annual remuneration (short-term incentive: 29%, medium- to long-term incentive: 14.5%). In addition, the monthly remuneration corresponds to remuneration other than productivity-linked remuneration, and the payment ratio is 56.5% of the total annual remuneration when both the company performance payment rate and the individual performance payment rate are 100% from fiscal year 2026.
3. Policy for each position regarding the determination of the amount of remuneration for officers or the calculation method thereof
 Of the remuneration of the Company's directors (excluding outside directors), the monthly remuneration is paid by adding the "role allowance" and "director's allowance" to the basic salary and the amount of payment is set for each rank. Additionally, stock-based compensation calculated at a specified rate is paid. In addition, the standard amount of fixed compensation notified in advance is set in conjunction with the monthly remuneration.
4. Index related to the productivity-linked remuneration, the reason for selecting the index, and the method of determining the amount of the productivity-linked remuneration
 When calculating the fixed compensation notified in advance, which is a productivity-linked remuneration, as for short-term incentives, the company performance payment rate is calculated from the standard index (consolidated operating profit + equity method investment profit + consolidated bonus) processed from consolidated operating income, and as for medium- to long-term incentives, the company performance payment rate is calculated based on the three-year compound annual growth rate of the standard index. In addition, the individual performance payment rate is determined by the degree of achievement of the goals set for each individual. After that, the amount of payment for each individual is finally decided by multiplying the standard amount by each payment rate according to the following formula.

 [Formula for calculating the average annual growth rate of the standard index]

$$\text{Compound annual growth rate} = \{(\text{standard index} \div \text{standard index 3 terms ago}) \text{ to the } 1/3 \text{ power}\} - 1$$
 [Formula for calculating short-term and medium- to long-term incentives]

$$\text{Individual payment amount} = \text{Standard amount} \times \text{Company performance payment rate} \times \text{Individual performance payment rate}$$

 The reasons for adopting the above standard index are as follows.
 - (A) Improving the performance of the entire group, including equity method affiliates is the main role of officers.
 - (B) Consolidated operating income excluding the effects of fluctuations in bonus payments is considered to be a better indicator of company performance.
5. The name or name of the person who has the authority to determine the amount of remuneration, etc. for officers or the policy for determining the calculation method, the content of that authority, and the scope of discretion
 The basic policy and method of determining the remuneration of the Company's directors (excluding outside directors) are determined by the Board of Directors after deliberation and reporting by the Nomination and Remuneration Committee, an optional committee with independent outside directors comprising the majority of members.
 When determining the amount of productivity-linked remuneration to be paid to directors in the relevant fiscal year, the Board of Directors of the Company is considered to be in a position to most appropriately evaluate each director individually in terms of the individual performance payment rate. Therefore, we delegated to Tsuyoshi Murai, Representative Director and Group CEO, and Naoki Hyakutake,

Representative Director, to determine the payment rate based on the achievements of each director's challenges and achievement targets (KPI) for the relevant fiscal year.
The Board of Directors of the Company has determined that the individual remuneration of directors is determined by the above method, and that the content is in line with the decision policy.

6. Activities of the Board of Directors in the process of determining the amount of remuneration for officers in the most recent fiscal year

Remuneration for directors of the Company is a matter to be resolved by the Board of Directors in accordance with the rules of the Board of Directors. We have been deliberating on the remuneration system, revision of calculation method for the fixed compensation notified in advance, and performance payment rate and individual performance payment rate for the fixed compensation notified in advance.

In the current fiscal year, at the Board of Directors meeting held on May 13, 2025, we discussed the company performance payment rate and individual performance payment rate regarding the fixed compensation notified in advance scheduled to be paid in June of the same year.

For the reference performance indicator of this fiscal year, actual performance in the previous fiscal year (the fiscal year ended March 2025) was 71,808 million yen (achievement rate: 98.5%) compared to a plan of 72,901 million yen.

7. Future revision of executive remuneration system

Until fiscal year 2025, officers' remuneration was paid based on the above system. From fiscal year 2026, in light of the fact that management is required to further promote the Company's sustainable growth and enhancement of corporate value, and to appropriately fulfill their roles and responsibilities, including improving profitability and capital efficiency, the Company has introduced remuneration in the form of acquisition of the Company's own shares. This is intended to foster greater value-sharing with stakeholders than ever before and to provide incentives for increasing corporate value.

This compensation is paid as a fixed portion based on the officer's rank, with the purpose of contributing to the Officers' Shareholding Association for the acquisition of company shares. Through this compensation, we will further increase management's motivation to contribute to the enhancement of corporate value and promote value sharing with shareholders.
